Greetings,

Thank you for considering a sponsorship to the Broken Circle - the Dark Legacy of Indian Residential Schools: a Memoir Luncheon Fundraiser with the Author Mr. Theodore Fontaine.

What will your sponsorship do?

The Luncheon is a fundraising event with proceeds going towards developing youth programs and creating opportunities for EIYGL to participate in leadership and governance activities as well as sustain current youth projects such as:

- Challenge Day - Breaks down barriers, reduces peer pressure and promotes positive peer pressure, reduces racism, oppression and violence.
- United Nations – Indigenous youth attend the United Nations Headquarters in New York City for the opportunity to develop leadership skills through global dialogue and information exchange.
- Executive Facilitator Training Sessions - Indigenous youth are trained to facilitate at a professional level for various activities throughout the calendar year.

What is Empowering Indigenous Youth in Governance and Leadership (EIYGL)?

Empowering Indigenous Youth in Governance and Leadership (EIYGL) is a registered charity that is a youth led leadership capacity building initiative of the Indigenous Leadership Development Institute, Inc. (ILDI). Bringing together Indigenous youth leaders from across Canada, EIYGL engages young people to work towards positive change in their communities through meaningful skill development and the identification of common issues, challenges, opportunities and values.

Indigenous youth leaders from First Nation, Inuit and Métis communities in EIYGL are between the ages of 15-35yrs., are active in a leadership capacity in their community and/or are seen as role models in the community. EIYGL believes that our future leaders must be well educated in traditional community practices and contemporary leadership skills, including all aspects of capacity building that can be passed on from our Elders, our communities and modern professionals.

Theodore Fontaine is a member of the Sagkeeng First Nation in Manitoba. He attended the Fort Alexander Indian Residential School from 1948 - 1958, and the Assiniboia Indian Residential School from 1958 – 1960. He led a mineral exploration crew in the Northwest Territories for a global mining corporation, was Chief of the Sagkeeng First Nation from 1979-1981, worked for the Federal Secretary of State Department; the Northwest Territories Region of Indian and Northern Affairs Canada; Executive Director of the Assembly of Manitoba Chiefs; and as Strategic Advisor to the Chiefs on Indian residential school issues. He was instrumental in negotiating and finalizing the national employment equity settlement with national corporations and the Canadian Human Rights Commission. He now chairs the Indigenous Leadership Development Institute, a national leadership training institute based in Winnipeg. In April 2010 he was appointed to the Board of Governors of the Manitoba Museum. He is also a director on the board of Peace Hills Trust, serving Aboriginal and non-Aboriginal businesses across Canada, and is an end-of-life volunteer with the Manitoba Hospice and palliative Care Association. Theodore lives with his wife, Morgan, in Winnipeg, Manitoba.
